LETTER FROM THE OWNERS

The Ride Doesn't End Here!

Who says the fun has to slow down just because the temperatures do? Sure, Michigan is trading sunny riding days for frosty mornings, colorful leaves, and the occasional reminder that winter is right around the corner. But for us, the motorcycle lifestyle is about so much more than turning the throttle. It's about the friendships, the adventures, the places we visit, and the people who make this community feel like family. And guess what? None of that has to go into hibernation!

Of course, we're not ready to call it quits just yet! We're still keeping our fingers crossed for a few more warm, sunny days to squeeze in those last few miles before Mother Nature reminds us who's really in charge around here. But whether you're getting ready to tuck your bike away for the winter or you're one of those diehards who rides whenever the roads allow, there's still plenty to keep us busy during the colder months.

Winter is the perfect time to get a head start on next season! If your motorcycle is heading into hibernation, now is the time to prepare it properly for winter storage. And if your garage is already packed tighter than a bike night parking lot, check out some of the great local businesses offering winter motorcycle storage. You can free up some space at home while giving your bike a safe place to spend the winter.

This is also the perfect opportunity to tackle those upgrades, repairs, and maintenance projects you've been putting off all summer. Whether you enjoy turning your own wrenches or prefer leaving things in the hands of a professional, a little attention now can make a big difference when spring rolls around. Nothing beats being ready to ride while everyone else is still trying to figure out what needs fixing!

And remember, just because riding season slows down doesn't mean we should disappear from the motorcycle community. Keep visiting those motorcycle-friendly businesses that support our riding lifestyle. They'll be happy to see a familiar face, and your continued support helps keep these great places going through the quieter months. Don't forget to keep using your Ride N' Win card for savings at participating locations, either. A good deal is a good deal, no matter what the thermometer says!

Winter is also a great time to get involved, or stay involved, with your local ABATE meeting. Meet fellow riders, catch up with familiar faces, make new friends, and learn more about the work being done to protect our rights as motorcyclists. And while you're checking your calendar, check on your riding buddies, too. A quick phone call, a visit, or an invitation to grab a cup of coffee can go a long way, especially for our veteran riders who might be missing the camaraderie of being out on the road.

Now, if you're one of those riders who refuses to put the bike away, we haven't forgotten about you! Use the winter months to get that maintenance handled, plan your upgrades, and start mapping out your next adventure. Maybe it's an out-of-state rally you've always wanted to attend, a southern road trip to escape the Michigan cold, or finally checking that destination off your bucket list. There's no rule saying all our riding memories have to happen in Michigan!

As always, thank you for being part of the Thunder Roads Michigan family. Whether we crossed paths at a rally, visited your business, shared a laugh, or simply connected through the pages of the magazine, we're grateful to be part of this incredible community. Keep supporting our advertisers, stay connected with us on social media, and check www.thunderroadsmichigan.com for events and happenings worth keeping on your radar.

So, don't look at November as the end of anything. Think of it as the beginning of planning, preparing, reconnecting, and getting ready for everything next season has waiting for us.

Keep the friendships strong, the plans rolling, and the spirit of the ride alive. And if Mother Nature gives us a decent day, you know what to do!

CHAPLAIN CHARLIES CORNER:

THANKFUL HEARTS WEAR LEATHER

BY CHAPLAIN CHARLIE

It's Christmas morning in Mid-Michigan. Snow is falling outside, covering the roads, rooftops, and bare trees in white. Inside, the house is anything but quiet. Kids are racing into the living room in pajamas, eyes wide and voices loud. Wrapping paper is flying. Boxes are being ripped open almost faster than Mom and Dad can keep track. Somewhere, a toy is already making noise, somebody is yelling, "Look what I got!" and there is probably a dog running through the middle of it all with a bow stuck to its head.

That kind of Christmas morning is easy to picture because many of us have lived it. We remember what it felt like to be a kid staring at those presents under the tree. But here in Midland County, there are children who may wake up without much under that tree at all. That is where a group of people who can sometimes look pretty intimidating comes in: the motorcycle community.

One thing I have learned over the years is that bikers have some of the biggest hearts you will ever find. Put a bunch of us together in leather, boots, patches, tattoos, and beards, and we may look like the people your mother warned you about. But spend time around the motorcycle community and you will see riders helping veterans, families in need, people battling illnesses, and children at Christmas.

That spirit is one reason I am proud to be part of Sanford American Legion Riders Chapter 443 and our annual TOYZ FOR KIDZ program. Every year, we collect toys and raise money for children throughout Midland County. And I want to emphasize one thing: every toy stays right here in Midland County.

TOYZ FOR KIDZ supports local children through Midland Public Schools, Bullock Creek Public Schools, Coleman Community Schools, Meridian Public Schools, the Sanford Santa House, and other local outlets helping families in our area. These gifts stay in the same communities where we live, work, worship, ride, and raise our families.

Maybe that toy ends up in a home in Sanford, Midland, Coleman, or Bullock Creek. Maybe it reaches a family that has had a rough year because of job loss, medical bills, or circumstances none of us plan for. The child may never know who donated it, and the donor may never see that child's face. But on Christmas morning, that child gets the same excitement: ripping paper, a big smile, and the shout of, "Look what I got!"

That is what gratitude looks like when it goes to work. Thanksgiving gives us a perfect opportunity to think about that. The Apostle Paul wrote in 1 Thessalonians 5:18, "Give thanks in every situation because this is God's will for you in Christ Jesus." That does not mean every situation is good. There are empty chairs at some Thanksgiving tables, and families dealing with illness, grief, financial struggles, and uncertainty. But even in difficult seasons, there are blessings worth recognizing.

We can be thankful for family, friends, a roof over our heads, food on the table, another sunrise, another ride, and another opportunity to help someone else. Maybe one of the best ways to show God we are thankful is to use some of what we have to bless somebody else. Acts 20:35 reminds us that "It is more blessed to give than to receive."

The motorcycle community understands that. We show up. Whether riders are rolling through downtown Sanford, cruising past Dow Diamond or the Tridge in Midland, or heading east toward Bay City and the Saginaw River, you do not have to travel far to find bikers supporting a cause.

One way you can help TOYZ FOR KIDZ this year is by joining us for the Sanford Christmas Ball on Friday, December 4, at the Sanford American Legion. Tickets are $35 per person, and all profits go to TOYZ FOR KIDZ.

This year's theme is National Lampoon's Christmas Vacation, so if your family is only a squirrel and Cousin Eddie away from becoming the Griswolds, you should feel right at home. The evening includes a full turkey dinner with all the fixings, a special can koozie, dancing, a silent auction, and plenty of Christmas Vacation-style fun. You can enjoy a great night with friends and know the money raised is helping local children.

As Thanksgiving approaches, I hope all of us take time to count our blessings. But after we count them, let's do something with them. Buy a toy. Donate a few dollars. Attend an event. Volunteer your time. Help a neighbor. Encourage somebody who is struggling.

You may never meet the child whose Christmas you helped make brighter. You may never hear the ripping paper or see the smile when that package gets opened. But somewhere in Midland County, on a snowy Christmas morning, there may be one more excited little voice shouting, "Look what I got!" because somebody cared enough to give.

This Thanksgiving, I am thankful for my family, my faith, my friends, and the motorcycle community I am blessed to be part of. Thunder Roads Michigan readers know riders come from every walk of life, but when someone needs help, bikers have a way of showing up. Sometimes the biggest hearts really do come wrapped in leather.

Until next time, ride safe, take care of one another, and thank God for the road behind you, the road ahead of you, and the people He has placed beside you along the way.

God bless,

Chaplain Charlie

VETERANS CORNER

Fall Miles and the People Who Make Them Matter...

There's something about fall in Michigan that makes you want to take the long way home. The colors, the cool air, and the rumble of motorcycles traveling together remind us how much a few hours on the road can mean.

For me, the heart of our veteran riding community is the people. It's the familiar faces at a stop, the laughter over a meal, and the comfort of being around brothers and sisters who understand parts of your life without needing every detail explained.

As an Army/Air Force veteran, I carry that connection with me. Our service may have taken us to different places, but we still know what it means to look out for the person beside us. That responsibility follows us onto the road.

Fall riding brings its own challenges. Those beautiful leaves can become slippery when wet, and piles can hide loose gravel or potholes. Slow down, give yourself room, and remember that a road you've traveled all summer can feel very different in November.

Then there are the deer. On Michigan's country roads, especially around dawn and dusk, we need to keep watching the shoulders and field edges. If one crosses, there may be more behind it. I want every one of us to enjoy the scenery and make it home safely.

A comfortable afternoon can also turn into a cold ride home. Check your tires and lights, pack warm layers and rain gear, and pay attention to the forecast. There's no shame in stopping to warm up, shortening a ride, or waiting for a better day when frost or ice threatens. We want you at the next ride, too.

And while we're checking our motorcycles, let's check on each other.

Think about the veteran who hasn't shown up lately. The friend who usually keeps everyone laughing but has been unusually quiet. The rider who says, "I'm fine," but seems to have something weighing on them. We don't always need the perfect words. Sometimes, "We've missed you," or "Want some company?" is enough to open a door.

As Veterans Day approaches on November 11, I find myself thinking about the people behind the uniforms, the lives we lived before service, the experiences we brought home, and the ways we continue to care for one another.

I hope we'll take time to attend a ceremony, shake a fellow veteran's hand, or invite someone to sit with us. And when the day is over, I hope we'll keep reaching out. A brother or sister who needs company on Veterans Day may need it the following week, too.

To my brothers and sisters in arms: I'm grateful for the bonds we share. For the stories, the laughter, and the willingness to stand beside one another when life gets heavy.

Enjoy these remaining fall miles. Take the pictures. Stop for the coffee. Make room at the table for someone who needs to feel welcome.

And please, take care of yourselves and each other. When the motorcycles are parked and winter settles in, we still have one another, and that's the part of this community I treasure most.

PORT HURON MOTORCYCLE CLUB – BART'S 2ND ANNUAL HARLEY SHOOT OUT

SEPTEMBER 26,2026

When Was the Last Time You Tried Something for the First Time?

My decision to go my own way and test my nerves at the Port Huron Motorcycle Club's 2nd Annual Bart's Harley Shoot Out kind of happened by accident. We had originally been invited to set up as a vendor and hang out, but we already had a full weekend of events we'd committed to. Then I got to thinking... Aly is more than capable of representing Thunder Roads Michigan Magazine on her own, and when was the last time I did something actually motorcycle-related that was just for the fun of it?

This could make a great story, I thought. Or, depending on how things went, a story I might prefer to keep to myself!

Heck, I was going! And if I was going, I might as well bring my Dyna and give it a run.

Was I being delusional? Possibly. Optimistic? Absolutely!

I had never officially raced the bike, let alone on dirt. My Dyna had never even been down a dirt road, so you can imagine how internally confident Aly was when I told her about this whole arrangement. But when Stan, a contributor to our magazine and a member of the Port Huron Motorcycle Club, started explaining the different racing classes, I found myself thinking, Why not? Challenge accepted!

Mind you, the challenge was mostly with myself. There was the chance I would chicken out.

The classes included Smooth Tire, Knobby Tire, and Paddle. Since my bike was set up for the Smooth Tire class, that seemed like the logical choice. Of course, there's a difference between having the right tires for a class and having the slightest clue what you're doing once the tree lights!

Not gonna lie, I was nervous. I've done my fair share of hole shots on the street with other riders, but this was an entirely different animal. Dirt? A starting line? An actual race? And people were willingly allowing me to participate in this madness? I was definitely in my head.

As I loaded my bike into the trailer, Stan gave me a little encouragement. He reminded me that I was an experienced rider and would adapt quickly. Then he assured me, "I guarantee you'll come off the track with a big smile."

Naturally, I asked, "Anything I should bring besides cardboard and tape?" Because, you know, proper preparation is everything!

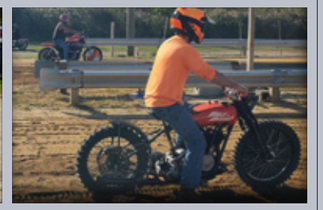

Well, Stan was right. I had an ABSOLUTE BLAST!

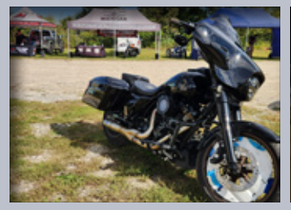

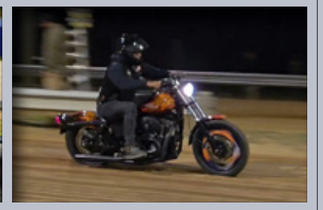

I was still nervous, but somewhere between wondering what the heck I had gotten myself into and waiting for the race to begin, that nervousness turned into excitement. And once I got out there, I started realizing that years of riding experience really do count for something. It gave me the confidence to try a few different approaches and figure things out as I went.

Now, in hindsight, perhaps those experimental techniques should have been tested during a practice run rather than introduced in the middle of an actual race. But hey, hindsight is always 20/20, and apparently, my dirt-racing strategy was to learn by doing!

I didn't bring home any prize money or much in the way of bragging rights, other than being able to say, "Yep, I raced my Dyna on dirt!" But honestly, that's not what mattered. I stepped outside my comfort zone, tried something completely new, met some great people, and experienced a rush that reminded me exactly why I love this motorcycle community.

And you know what? I'd absolutely do it again if the opportunity comes around. In fact, I hope it does! Even better, I hope this inspires someone else to give something new a try. You don't have to win a trophy to walk away with a great story, a few laughs, and a memory worth keeping.

A huge THANK YOU to the Port Huron Motorcycle Club for the invitation, the encouragement, and for making a first-time dirt drag racer feel welcome. I'm genuinely grateful I took the chance, and even more grateful to have been part of an event that celebrates the spirit of motorcycle racing.

The Port Huron Motorcycle Club is actively looking for motorcycle enthusiasts who want to help keep motorcycle racing alive. If you're interested in learning more, reach out to them through their Facebook page and get involved. Whether you're an experienced racer or someone who's curious about trying something new, there's a lot to be said for showing up, giving it a shot, and seeing where the road—or dirt—takes you.

So, I'll leave you with this: When was the last time YOU tried something for the first time?

If you can't remember, maybe it's time to change that.

Just remember to bring your sense of humor... and maybe a little cardboard and tape!

YEAH, OR MEH?

HARLEY-DAVIDSON® HOODIE WITH BUILT-IN FACE MASK

BY BIG E OF THE MID MICHIGAN BIKER PODCAST

Sometimes, even Big E has to give Harley some credit!

Let's get something straight right out of the gate: normally, I'm not the guy who's going to go out of his way to promote Harley-Davidson merchandise. But every once in a while, a piece of gear comes along that makes you stop, swallow your pride, and admit that somebody got it right. This is one of those times.

With fall riding season upon us here in Michigan, we all know what that means. Those beautiful morning rides can come with a little extra bite in the air, and finding the right gear to keep you warm without making you feel like the Michelin Man can be a challenge.

Enter the Harley-Davidson hoodie with the built-in face mask.

The first time I laid eyes on one was at The House of Harley in Milwaukee. I was actually shopping for a hoodie, but when I spotted one with the built-in face mask, I wasn't exactly sold on the idea. For whatever reason, the mask just didn't appeal to me, so I passed on it.

My travel companion at the time, however, decided to pull the trigger and buy one.

Fast-forward to this spring. We're out riding, and I start hearing all about how great this hoodie is. Apparently, that built-in mask I had been so skeptical about was turning out to be one heck of a feature. Well, eventually, curiosity got the better of me. I ordered one for myself, and let me tell you, it didn't take long for me to eat my words.

This thing quickly became my go-to hoodie for those cooler morning rides. The material is nice and thick, giving it that warm, comfortable feel you want when the temperatures haven't quite caught up with your enthusiasm for getting out on two wheels. But the real winner here is that built-in face mask. It's adjustable, allowing you to get a better fit around your face and making it a practical addition when that chilly air starts finding its way under your collar. Instead of messing around with a separate face covering, you've got it right there in your hoodie, ready when you need it.

And apparently, one just wasn't enough for me. I liked it so much that I went ahead and bought a second one!

Now, if you know me, you know I'm not easily convinced just because something has the Harley-Davidson name slapped on it. I want gear that works, gear that makes riding more comfortable, and gear that earns its place in my riding wardrobe.

This hoodie checked those boxes for me.

Is it going to replace all your cold-weather riding gear? Absolutely not. You'll still want to dress appropriately for the temperatures and conditions, especially when you're dealing with sustained highway speeds. But for those crisp mornings, cool-weather rides, and times when you need an extra layer of warmth, this hoodie has earned its place in my rotation.

So, I'll admit it: sometimes Harley gets it right. And when a product impresses me enough that I buy a second one, you know it has to be doing something right!

THE BIG E VERDICT
YEAH, OR MEH? — YEAH!

If you're looking for an extra layer for those cool Michigan mornings, put this one on your radar.

Until next time, keep the shiny side up, the rubber side down, and remember:

Life is short, bikers, so get after it!

Sanford American Legion Post #443 Welcomes a Piece of Military History

Nearly ten years in the making, a dream that began with one Legion commander finally became a reality on July 1, 2026, thanks to dedicated veterans, generous businesses, and a community that showed up to make it happen.

For the members of Sanford American Legion Post #443, Wednesday, July 1, 2026, was more than just the arrival of a military monument. It was the culmination of nearly a decade of patience, persistence, and a shared desire to honor the men and women who served our country. It was also a powerful reminder of what can happen when a community comes together for a meaningful cause.

Thunder Roads Michigan Magazine was proud to be part of the escort that accompanied an M60A3 series combat tank to its new home at the Sanford American Legion, helping welcome a remarkable piece of military history into the community.

A Decade in the Making

The journey began many years ago under the leadership of the late Mark Authier, then commander of Sanford American Legion Post #443. His vision was to establish a military monument at the post, giving veterans, residents, and visitors a place to reflect on the sacrifices made by those who served.

Acquiring a military vehicle or aircraft for display is not as simple as finding one and arranging transportation. These pieces remain government property even after they are decommissioned, and the Army Donation Program oversees the process of making them available to approved organizations. Posts must first apply, qualify for approval, and then wait their turn on a list that can stretch for years.

Sanford's original hope was to acquire a military aircraft. Authier worked to get the application process started and the post onto the waiting list. Unfortunately, he passed away from COVID-19 in 2021 and never got to see that dream fulfilled.

As the years passed, Sanford American Legion Service Officer Tom Talbot suggested considering a tank instead. That change in direction would eventually bring the post a monument that carried its own history and meaning.

The opportunity finally came when VFW Post 2777 in Burton had closed and its building was put up for sale. Under the donation program, when an organization closes or gives up a military display, the item may be offered to the next approved organization on the waiting list.

Then came the call around June 25,2026 when Sanford received the news that a tank was available. After years of waiting, the message was essentially, "I have a tank for you." Quickly that call turned into motions into how to get it home? Suddenly, the long wait turned into a race against the clock.

A Community Effort Like No Other

With the Fourth of July approaching and only a short window to coordinate transportation and placement,

Sanford Post Commander Mark Kloha took the lead in bringing everything together, with help and input from Talbot and other Legion members.

Kloha and Talbot first traveled to Burton to inspect the tank and see what they were working with. During that visit, they encountered a Vietnam veteran who had served as a tank operator, accompanied by his daughter and granddaughter. Talbot, who had served as a minesweeper in Vietnam, struck up a conversation with the veteran. What began as a visit to look over a piece of equipment turned into approximately 45 minutes of shared memories and discussion about the tank and their experiences during the war.

It was a moment that captured the deeper meaning behind the project. This was not simply about moving a tank from one property to another. It was about preserving a connection to the people who served, the experiences they carried, and the history that should never be forgotten.

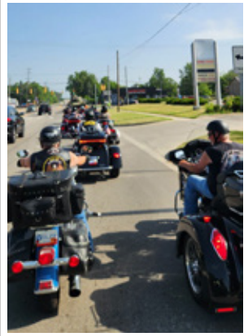

Bringing the tank home required more than determination. The post needed a properly prepared concrete pad built to specific requirements, along with heavy equipment and specialized transportation to move and position the vehicle safely.

That is where several generous Michigan businesses stepped forward.

Fisher Contracting Company, McNally-Nimergood Crane Rentals, and Bierlein Companies donated their time, personnel, equipment, and services to make the move possible. Tim Smith Masonry also played an important role by helping complete the concrete work in time for the tank's arrival.

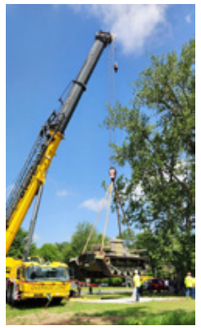

All of these contributions were donated. Without the generosity of these companies, the expense of moving and installing the tank could have been a significant burden for the Legion. It was an extraordinary show of support, especially considering how quickly everything had to happen. With limited availability so close to the holiday, each piece of the plan had to fall into place.

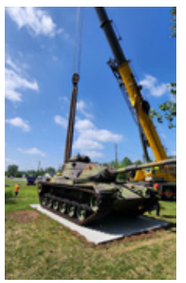

A Welcome Escort and a New Landmark

On the morning of Wednesday, July 1, the Sanford American Legion Riders and others assembled for the journey to the Burton VFW Post. Despite the early hour, weekday timing, and short notice, an impressive number of people turned out to participate.

For Thunder Roads Michigan Magazine, being part of that escort was an honor. Our magazine has always been proud to support the motorcycle community, veterans, and the organizations that make Michigan a special place to call home. Being there to help welcome the tank to its new location was another opportunity to stand alongside people who give so much to others.

The turnout was especially meaningful to the Legion members, who were amazed by the willingness of so many people to help without asking for anything in return. It was a reminder that support for veterans is not limited to a ceremony or a holiday. Sometimes it looks like showing up early on a Wednesday morning, lending equipment, donating skilled labor, or simply being part of a convoy with a common purpose.

Even the tank's final placement was given careful consideration. Its position and direction were discussed thoughtfully, with the decision made to have it face north, reflecting the history of the Vietnam War and the opposing forces in that conflict.

After nearly ten years of waiting, the tank had finally arrived at its new home.

More Than a Monument

Although the tank is now a permanent landmark at Sanford American Legion Post #443, the Legion's vision extends beyond its arrival. Members hope to add lighting and security cameras and possibly create a designated parking area where visitors can safely pull in, take photographs, and appreciate the monument.

Already, people have been stopping to take pictures. The post hopes the tank will attract visitors, spark conversations about military service, and encourage more people to discover what the American Legion has to offer by becoming a member.

The Legion also wants the public to know that its doors are open. The kitchen serves lunch on weekdays, and Tuesday burger nights welcome the community for a meal prepared by volunteers. Proceeds help support the building and its ongoing needs. Weekend meals are also offered, with the post often seeing increased activity.

Whether someone stops to admire the tank, enjoys a burger with friends, grabs lunch while passing through town, or decides to become involved with the Legion, the hope is that this new monument will serve as a welcoming invitation to the community.

Gratitude That Goes Beyond Words

The Sanford American Legion's tank project is a story of perseverance, remembrance, and people coming together when it matters most. It honors the vision of a commander who did not live to see his dream completed, the veterans whose experiences give the monument its meaning, and the many people and businesses who helped make it happen.

To show their appreciation, the Legion hosted a dinner for the companies and individuals involved and presented them with plaques as a small token of gratitude for their contributions.

It was a fitting way to recognize a group of people who gave freely of their time, talent, and resources, expecting nothing in return.

At Thunder Roads Michigan Magazine, we were proud to be part of the escort that brought this piece of military history to its new home. We extend our heartfelt thanks to everyone who helped make the day possible and to the members of Sanford American Legion Post #443 for sharing their story with us.

For Sanford American Legion Post #443, a dream has come to fruition and that dream is now standing proudly in its new home. And for everyone who helped bring it there, July 1, 2026, will be a day worth remembering.

God bless all of our veterans,
RJ

THE SUMMER IN THE REARVIEW

It was a good summer and a lot of ground poundin from a lot of riders; memories weren't the only things made. Sometimes we struggle to find our inner peace in our daily lives. But, as I speak with more and more like-minded people, the love of twos is how we de-stress and how we rejuvenate. Every year it becomes a reality, it's not about the destination, it's the journey that we seek. The people and places we haphazardly come across. The places that we had not intended to stop at, but the beauty of the location was simply breath-taking. Yes, we start out thinking we may do a turn-n-burn; or a cross-country run. But that's the long game and if you are a grid iron junkie like me, we know that this game called life is a game of inches.

While we yearn to get to wherever it is we set our minds too or the mandos our clubs set. Tell me you haven't been on the highway and had no idea where you were, but the color of the sky, the trees in the mountains, the texture of the clay, the landscape of the coastline didn't take your mind off whatever it was you were dealing with at the time. It seemed the air was fresher, the scenery was clearer, and the mental state was reset. So, let's be realistic, not everyone can relate to this because some people are not the type to cross a state line, but inner-state riding can be equally as fun.

Which leads me to the great debate! If you have a cruiser, is it ok to stay local or are you doing your "two-wheeled mistress/sir" a disservice by limiting the miles it could potentially go? I know some bikes are show bikes, but a dresser is most likely purchased with the intent to pack the bags and get some yonda. Feel free to correct me if I am wrong. (Look me up on IG and share your opinion-Litererary_Lenz_Detroit) I have friends that have ridden over a 100K on one bike, some on multiple bikes, and some that have never fathomed the thought of doing more than bar hopping through the weekend. So, who technically wins the argument? The person that has a goal to do as many miles in one year as possible, understanding that bike's value depreciates with every passing dotted line in the highway? Or the person that babies their bike for five years with stop light-to-stop light glory with 500-mile summers? True indeed that bike may hold its value with low miles, can't argue that point.

I believe it boils down to... what is the goal of the motorcycle and the dreams of the rider. If we are anything alike, I have a bar hopper (Softail), a Midwest runner (road glide), and a get-the-fuck-out-of-towner (street glide). In my non-professional riding experience, I have over 87K miles out of the seven bikes I've owned. (some Japanese bikes and others American) Maybe over 100K including riding a few friends' bikes when I was younger. So, what has been placed on my mind is to introduce riding to the younger generation. They are applying for driving licenses, but a lot are participating in the ride-share community. I personally believe this would relieve them of a lot of stress and reduce the amount of "crash-outs." This could introduce them to working with their hands, hand tools, and possibly even protecting us. Tell me you cannot relate, when you see a motorcycle rider, I want to get behind them and protect them from distracted cagers. This would certainly be a way we could connect with America's youth.

Whether it be dirt bikes, mops, mini-bikes, or entry level motorcycles, they are all great for stimulating the sensory and motor nerves. I hear a lot of people saying the next generation is lost. But my question is, how do we reach them? My answer, this two wheeled lifestyle. There is a local young guy that goes by the name, Holeshot RJ a.k.a The Tix, I have really taken a liken to this cat. I see a lot of myself in him when I was 19 years old , young, wild and free. Willing to try to be the best at whatever I set my mind to. That's how I view him on these twos. Popping wheelies, burn-outs, or sliding that rear wheel, he is hood famous on Detroit's motorcycle set. He recently received an award at the 2026 Detroit Antique Motorcycle (D.A.M.) Show for being a standout youngin playing in a grown man's/person's sport. I will hopefully get the chance to share his full story one day, but for now he has my support.

If you know of any young, hard-ridin, two-wheel appreciating people, send their info to us. Let's keep them inspired and share their stories. Us middle-aged individuals need to push them to be us...or BETTER than us!

As stated before...keep them wheels turnin and them cigars burnin,

HOT RODS TOPICS

Thank you so much, RJ and Aly, for covering our Car & Bike Show. We truly appreciate everything you both do for us!

Yesterday, Denise and I visited Bill's Hot Dog stand in Ypsilanti, and it was absolutely worth the Saturday morning drive. Their pricing is fantastic, just $2.40 for a hot dog, which is incredibly reasonable these days. If you get the chance, this is definitely a spot worth checking out. Afterward, we stopped by A M Leather to have some patches made, and the weather was simply beautiful.

We have some wonderful news about next year's raffle! We're thrilled to announce that a '23 T Bucket will be available for raffle, generously donated by Diversified Roofing (Stan Tupacz). This generous gift truly surprised us all. When I say we have some of the finest members in the world, I mean it! Our members are incredibly giving and caring, and it's wonderful when we all come together. We've even had members meet at our gatherings who've become couples—people who needed each other. How amazing is that!

Next week, we're heading to Dexter Schools to meet with Superintendent Ryan Burder, who's excited to connect with us and accept the benches for suicide prevention. This will be presented at the School Board Meeting on October 19th, followed by a group dinner, which is always enjoyable. We're also considering other schools like Whiteford Lake and Ann Arbor for future donations.

In November, we'll be donating turkeys and potatoes to McCalla Green in Milan. Special thanks to The Mayor of Milan and Joey Ringbloom Electric Company and other donors We're grateful to everyone who stepped up to help meet this need.

Conditions at the American Legion Hall have really improved under New Commander Dutch Nie's leadership, and we feel genuinely welcomed and valued. As we all know, aging brings health challenges, and we've had some difficult moments recently. Our prayer chain has been a tremendous blessing for everyone facing illness or health concerns. I've said it before, and I'll say it again, we truly have the best members in the world!

Stay safe and God Bless,

HOT ROD

JOKER'S WILD

A biker stops by the local Harley Shop to have his bike fixed. They couldn't do it while he waited, so he said he didn't live far and would just walk home. On the way home he stopped at the hardware store and bought a bucket and an anvil. He stopped by the feed store/livestock dealer and picked up a couple of chickens and a goose. However, struggling outside the store he now had a problem: how to carry all of his purchases home. While he is scratching his head he was approached by a little old lady who told him she was lost. She asked, "Can you tell me how to get to 1603 Mockingbird Lane?" The biker said, "Well, as a matter of fact, I live at 1616 Mockingbird Lane. I would walk you home but I can't carry this lot." The old lady suggested, "Why don't you put the anvil in the bucket, carry the bucket in one hand, put a chicken under each arm and carry the goose in the other hand?" "Why thank you very much," he said and proceeded to walk the old girl home. On the way he says, "Let's take my shortcut and go down this alley. We'll be there in no time." The little old lady looked him over cautiously then said, "I am a lonely widow without a husband to defend me. How do I know that when we get in the alley you won't hold me up against the wall, pull up my skirt, and ravish me?"
The biker said, "Holy smokes lady! I am carrying a bucket, an anvil, two chickens and a goose. How in the world could I possibly hold you up against the wall and do that?" The lady replied, "Set the goose down, cover him with the bucket, put the anvil on top of the bucket and I'll hold the chickens."
(Hey, old broads get horny too!)

This bill collector had been calling Rhino for several months and he eventually had to block him. But one day he called from a different number and Rhino answered the phone and the collector said;
"Do you know as of today your outstanding bill is one year old?" Rhino said, "Really? Tell it Happy Birthday!" and hung up.

-How come we choose from just two people to run for President but over fifty for Miss America?

When I was young we used to go 'skinny dipping.' Now I just 'chunky dunk.'

WHY is the time of day with the slowest traffic called rush hour?

When I ask for directions, please avoid complicated words like "East."

Two buddies are sittting at the bar and one looks over and sees this roll of clear tape. He picks it up, rips off a piece, sticks it in his mouth and chews it a bit, gags and spits it out and tells his bud, "Ick, that does not taste Anything like Scotch."

Kids complain about road trips while holding an iPad. I used to stare out the window for six hours going to Grandma's house and hope we passed a cow.

I saw a dog wearing a "Do not approach" vest and thought .... Do they make those for people?

For winter driving you should have these things in the trunk of your car .... a shovel, rope, duct tape, big size lawn & leaf bags, gloves, oops .... my bad, wrong list.

I'm so short that the sun visor in my car is completely useless. It literally never reaches my eyes.

Piss me off and I will fill your leaf blower with glitter. Your yard gonna look like Tinkerbell hit a land mine.

Why isn't anybody ever just Whelmed?

Remember, any pan can be a non-stick pan if you non-cook in it. Follow me for more kitchen tips.

You don't have to be everyone's butterfly.
Be a bee. Mind your business, make your honey, and sting people on the ass when necessary.

Little Bennie is listening to his Dad talking to a friend and asked, "Dad, what's a forklift?" and his Dad pokes friend in the side and tells Lil' Bennie, "Well, I'd have to say, Food, usually."

In the near future, AI is gonna tell a woman she's wrong, and that my friends, will be the end of AI.

From Our Family to Yours' Happy Thanksgiving & Remember, There Is Always, Always, Something To Be Thankful For. Much Love To You ALL ~
